Scientific Miscellany.

It has been proven to the French Association for the Advancement of Science that the surgical operation of trepanning was practiced in prehistoric ages.

Dr. Sephus Tromholt, of Norway, is about preparing a catalogue of all the auroras which have been observed in Northern Europe from the earliest times.

The re-planting of forests in North-western India has already made itself beneficially felt, according to Sir G. Birdwood, in increasing the rainfall of various districts.

The deep sea Crustacea, according to Prof. Moseley, either have very large eyes or are eyeless, and there must be a source of light in the deep sea. That source, he claims, is phosphorescence, but its light must be very dim.

The little living worms which have been most unexpectedly discovered in ice are described by Prof. Leidy as being white or colorless, and from one-fourth to one-sixth of an inch long by one-seventh-fifth of an inch in thickness, the species being unknown.

A Swedish naturalist, Dr. Willa, has investigated the strength of various kinds of sea weed to resist strains, such as are caused by the swell of the sea. He finds that seaweeds are very strong and elastic, the parts which ordinarily lie lowest in the water being capable of bearing the greatest strain.

According to Sir Trevor Lawrence, M. P., there is a collector of orchids in England who employs fourteen persons—nearly all German naturalists, and each costing about $6,000 a year—to search for different species and varieties in different parts of the world. He has two acres of the plants under glass, and his total annual expenditure on orchids is nearly $100,000.

To prove that Dr. Koch's "comma bacillus" is not the cause of cholera, and that the vomit of cholera patients is not infectious, a French physician has swallowed some pills made from the vomit of a person who died from cholera. He was only slightly affected, if at all, but two guinea pigs and a dog which were inoculated with the same vomit succumbed at once.

A SOURCE OF PURE WATER.—In a communication to the French Academy of Science, Mons. A. H. de Villeneuve has urged the importance of using distilled water for drinking purposes, and has suggested that the cost may be greatly reduced by using that obtainable from steam engines. He asserts that it is not unpalatable and contains sufficient air, while the absence of lime salts is an advantage.

PROTECTED SOIL.—A German experimenter, Prof. E. Wolff, has found that soil covered with living herbage or dead vegetable matter is colder in summer and warmer in winter than bare soil under otherwise similar conditions. The difference of temperature is greatest in summer and least in spring and autumn. Bare soil heats and cools more quickly in the spring and cools more quickly in autumn than that covered with living or dead vegetable matter.

ROOTS TURNED ASIDE BY GASES.—It has been demonstrated by Dr. Hans Molisch that roots of plants may be deflected from their normal direction by exposure on one side to certain gases. If such gases are in moderate quantities the roots bend away from their source; if in large quantities, towards such source. The side of the root exposed to the action of the gas grows more strongly than the other.

EARTHQUAKE VELOCITIES.—In experiments by Prof. Milne and Gray it has been determined that normal earthquake waves are transmitted through hardened mud at the rate of 437 feet per second, and traverse waves at 357 feet per second. Mallet's earlier experiments showed that earthquakes traverse sand and at a speed of 835 feet per second, jointed granite 1,306 feet, and soft granite 1,665 feet per second. Prof. Ewing considers the last number to be very much too small.

MUSHROOM POISONING.—During last summer fifteen persons were killed in France by eating fungi which were believed to be the edible mushroom. The fungus eaten in some of the cases was of a kind which is ordinarily wholesome, but which develops poisonous qualities under certain conditions. In cooking a common test for poison is a piece of silver, which theory asserts will become blackened when placed in the vessel containing the poisonous forms of fungi. This test has proven to be unreliable, as in several of these French cases it was applied and the victim remained unaffected, while the mushrooms killed those who ate them.

THE DISSOLVING CONTINENTS.—Besides the vast quantities of solid particles which are washed from the land into the sea—reducing the height of the entire Mississippi basin at the estimated rate of one foot in 6,000 years—much matter is dissolved by the water, and carried away in a state in which it ordinarily escapes notice. From data furnished by the Mississippi, the La Plata, the Amazon and the St. Lawrence, Mr. T. Mellard Reade, an English geologist who has devoted much attention to the chemical denudation of the earth's surface has calculated that the whole American continent is losing in this way an average of 100 tons per square mile each year. Similar results have been obtained for Europe, leading Mr. Reade to infer that the Atlantic Ocean from America, Africa, Europe and Asia contributes matter in solution which, if reduced to rock at two tons to the cubic yard, would equal one cubic mile every six years.

"I must have rest and change!" exclaimed an excited individual, as he rushed into a Burlington bank and emptied his pockets of twenty-five or thirty pounds of silver dollars.

Give Them a Chance!

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousand of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well. Cough, cold, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is but one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Rosch's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed up, you may depend upon.

SIX-PAGE EDITION.

THE GAZETTE is always willing to encourage home industry by publishing articles showing to the world the possibilities of Nevada. Whenever experiments of general interest are made by stockmen, ranchers and others of the State, we would esteem it a favor if such be written up and sent to this office for publication. Notwithstanding the present year has been one of the most unfavorable known in many years for fruit growing, some very fine exhibits were made at the State Fair, and they included several choice varieties of grapes. Where were these grapes grown and under what conditions—the variety, the character of soil, the water, and how much irrigation, if any, did they require?

We merely mention this class of fruit to furnish an instance of knowledge desired by many anxious to make homes for themselves in valleys where they can earn a livelihood from cultivating the soil. There are others more interested in matters pertaining to the successful raising of live stock. Have you learned anything new from recent experiments of your own? If so, tell us something about them. The success of our State depends upon mutual interest.

A rancher who came to the GAZETTE office yesterday asked: "Why don't you say something in your paper about our section? We are a prosperous people, but the GAZETTE seldom ever has a word to say about us. It is a good newspaper and we all like to read it, but write us up once in a while." This rancher was informed, as all are, that whenever anything of interest takes place in his community if he will take the time to write it up and send it to us, it will find welcome space in the columns of the GAZETTE.

THE cost of naturalization in England has been raised from $8 to $14, on account of the increasing influx of aliens into London. The English press is earnestly advocating the restriction of immigration on behalf of the native laboring population of East London, where the cheap races of Continental Europe, Germans, Bohemians, Italians, Poles are crowding the English breadwinners to the wall. In the face, says the San Francisco American, of such action on the part of the British Government, a Government of the classes and one which has never been accused of favoring the masses, the neglect of the American people to elect a Government from among themselves which shall put in operation some measures of restriction, seems criminal carelessness. Germany makes the residence of foreigners, for more than a stated temporary period, so irksome by police regulations and petty tyrannies, that the population of the empire is not being debased by foreign influence. Russia, by means more despotic, is thoroughly purging the Baltic provinces of all elements that are not thoroughly Russian. The aim of all the civilized countries of the world, barring only the United States, seems to be toward homogeneity of population.

THE Southern Pacific magnates are reaching out for Oregon traffic, and it is expected that through connection between Portland and San Francisco will be established by December 15th. By the aid of its Sunset route the Southern Pacific can make lower rates into Oregon from New York and other Atlantic seaboard points than any of the northern lines, as it does not have to divide profits with other companies, which share from one-fourth to one-third of the transcontinental mileage.

THE GAZETTE has urged the closing of all business houses for one day to give everybody a chance to attend the Ormsby Fair. Not only would the GAZETTE suspend for one issue, but will head a subscription with $20 to pay for the chartering of a special train so that on either to-morrow or Saturday every man, woman and child in Reno who wishes to go to Carson may ride there on the railroad free of charge.

If the Journal and the business houses of Reno will close down to-morrow so that all may attend the Carson Fair, the GAZETTE will be only too glad to suspend publication for one day and give its employees an opportunity to go.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

(FROM DISPATCHES TO THE GAZETTE.)

Denies the Allegation.
 PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 6.—Ex-Governor Pattison, Chairman of the Pacific Investigating Commission, to-night made an absolute denial of the statement recently published, to the effect that the Commission expended $22,000 in junketing over the Central Pacific. The only bill of that company against the Commission was $1,500 for personal fares and expenses of the Commission's stenographers, and $4,500 for an engine made necessary in the investigation.

The Peabody Fund.
 NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—The Trustees of the Peabody Educational Fund held a meeting to-night. According to the Secretary's report, the fund amounts to $2,700,000, and the income therefor is $70,000. The income is distributed as follows: Scholarships, $22,800; Normal schools, $13,000; Institutes, $11,700; public schools, $13,000; Normal College at Nashville, $20,500.

Female Rioters.
 MADRID, Oct. 6.—Several thousand female cigar-makers gathered at one of the factories and engaged in a riot. The civil guards surrounded the factory. The women took possession of the building and barricaded it. They still hold the building.

A Fatal Explosion.
 AMANDA, Ohio, Oct. 5.—By the explosion of a boiler in David Young's sawmill, George Lape, Perry Lape, Simon Young and Amos Young were instantly killed and Mrs. Simon Young seriously injured.

The Great Fistic Artist.
 BOSTON, Oct. 6.—J. L. Sullivan will sail for Europe on October 29th. Harry Phillips, a well-known sporting man from Montreal, has been in town for three days, making arrangements with the champion to become his manager. Sullivan said to a reporter, last evening that he will make a tour through England, Ireland and Scotland.

Fire in New York.
 NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—A fire broke out this morning in Ephraim Howe's distillery, a three-story brick building, and filled with valuable spirits. The whole stock was destroyed, and within an hour the distillery was in ashes. The loss on the building was $25,000, and on the stock of spirits $150,000.

A Second Term for Mexico's President.
 CITY OF MEXICO, Oct. 6.—Congress has before it, and will pass to final enactment, a resolution approving the constitutional amendment permitting the re-election of a President of the Republic for a second term, two-thirds of the States having ratified the amendment, thus giving it the force of law.

The W. U. Absorbs the B. & O.
 NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—It is announced that the sale of the Baltimore and Ohio to the Western Union Telegraph Company has been completed. The contract was signed this morning. Gould says he does not know the exact price, but that the Western Union will issue sufficient stock to take the indebtedness and capital stock of the Baltimore and Ohio.

Nebraska Republicans.
 LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 6.—The Republican State Convention, after renominating Judge Samuel Massell as Judge of the Supreme Court, completed the ticket by nominating R. B. Davis and George Roberts.

BUFFALO BILL AND WIFE.
 What a Friend of the Couple Had to Say at the Depot Hotel Last Evening of them.

"No, gentlemen, you are mistaken," said a Depot Hotel guest last evening after hearing Buffalo Bill spoken of at the dinner table as an uncouth rough. "I have known Buffalo Bill and his wife, Mrs. Cody, for the past 15 years, and I must say I know of few people I admire more than I do them. Both are fine looking, intelligent, hospitable and possess charming manners. Their home is four miles distant from North Platte, Nebraska. It cost over $250,000 and is simply palatial. Their ranch is, in my opinion, one of the finest in America. Why it would do any one's soul good to visit it; it is enough to excite the envy of any land monopolist on the Pacific Coast. Everything about it bespeaks refinement. Mr. Cody is not rough in his appearance, language nor manner. He is a perfect gentleman, and the nabobs of England have undoubtedly recognized this fact or they would never have feted him as they have. In appearance he is rather prepossessing, being six feet and one inch in height and of splendid physique. He has a light complexion, and wears a long mustache and long hair. There is something about the man that commands respect. Was he a scout and has he killed many Indians, do you ask? No; he never killed either an Indian or a white man. But he is one of the best shots in America, if not in the world. He performs some wonderful feats in this line. It is amazing the money he is making in England. It sounds ridiculous, but it is nevertheless true that every day the gate receipts are dumped into a large iron box on wheels and hauled to the bank, where they are counted. Mrs. Cody herself told me last week that he wrote her recently that the interest in his performances seems to be increasing, and where the immense crowds of people come from is a daily source of wonder to him. Some of the Indians, she says, complain of the climate there, and want to return to the West. In case they insist on returning it is probable he will have to send his season soon."

Settling Questions of Survey.
 The U. S. surveying corps under P. Powers are camped at Walker Lake for the purpose of taking astronomical observations preparatory to the beginning of the survey of the boundaries of Walker River Indian reservation that have been long in dispute. It is probable that all questions of survey will be settled by the 1st of November.

LIGHTNING.

HARNESSED AND DRIVEN BY MEDICAL SCIENCE.

Becomes a Dreaded Foe to Disease, and the Victor of all Human Afflictions—Invincible in Combat With the Destroyer.

Fame and fortune are the essence of human ambition. When coupled, their possession is the acme of mortal aspiration. And yet, neither is essential to the felicity which comes to the possession of either without both. Fame, justly earned, is the crown which rewards success in an honorable pursuit. Fortune without honor is but the ignominious goal of a morbid nature. Fortune and fame, therefore, are not inseparable, though a most desirable combination of excellent achievement. To few is vouchsafed the moral equipoise which preserves unblemished the nobler traits of character while in pursuit of these phenomena of hope and endeavor. Some men achieve greatness in a chosen pursuit, through an intelligent direction of the powers or gifts with which nature has endowed them, without an incentive other than to confer what benefit they may upon others less fortunate.

DR. McLENNAN, Whose name is blessed by, and whose good works are a personal benison to thousands who have gained health through his skillful ministrations, has achieved an honorable reputation, which, it would seem, would leave little to be desired by the most ambitious disciple of the healing art. He has won fame surely, if not fortune, in an active devotion to the needs of afflicted humanity. Tirelessly for years he has striven for the good of others, and what has accomplished in this pleasant pursuit has brought gladness and sunshine into thousands of grateful hearts. By the simple means he adopts, which is the intelligent direction of animal magnetism and electricity, to the cure of disease, this gifted man is unflinching in the cure of almost every bodily ailment known to medical science. Many hundreds of grateful testimonials from intelligent and responsible patients bear witness to the wonderful skill he possesses in the mastery of human ills.

It is not out of place here to give the name of a few of those who have been thus benefited. Dr. McLennan desires to impress upon patients the fact that he receives no one who is now under treatment with any other physician. To such he would say: "Stay with your doctor and give him a fair and impartial trial; he will no doubt cure you. Those cases only that have resisted the agency of drugs and baffled the best directed efforts of physicians. Solicited to such, Dr. McLennan offers unusual opportunities for relief.

REPRESENTATIVE MEN OF CALIFORNIA WHO ENDORSE THIS TREATMENT.
 Charles Crocker of railroad fame; Hon. Leland Stanford, U. S. Senator; Hon. James Louitt, of Stockton (Congressman); George A. Knight, attorney, San Francisco; Lee D. Craig, notary, San Francisco; J. P. Fogarty, editor, San Francisco; Dorrance Alwater, U. S. Consul from Tehuati; Senator Hubbel, of Wisconsin; Judge Crane, of Oakland; Judge Wheeler, of San Francisco; Dr. Crane, of Napa; Dr. Brown, of Oakland; Rev. Dr. McKaig, of San Francisco; Rev. Father Gallagher, of St. Peter's Church; Rev. Father O'Keefe, of San Francisco; and the late Rev. Father Walsh, of Stockton, who said: "Had I heard of this treatment in time, I believe, from the benefit I have derived, it would have restored me to health."

PATIENTS IN NEED WHO CAN BE REFERRED TO.
 Andrew Benson, Esq., proprietor of Eureka Stables; Mrs. A. Benson, Sierra street; Mrs. Elizabeth Merchou; Mrs. M. Haskell; Mr. Daniel Murphy; Mr. Wm. Lahart; Mr. Wm. H. Carroll; Mr. Thomas Coddington; Mrs. Linton; Mr. John Miller, proprietor of the City Hotel and Russ House; Mr. D. T. Bristol and Dr. Albert Hill, who have visited the Fair and remained for treatment. These, with several others, who objected to having their names published, constitute a long list of local references rarely met with in such a short time. Those who desire to consult him should do so at once, as business at San Francisco, where his home is, and where he has practiced for the past sixteen years, will soon compel him to return there. Remember the cure he performs are permanent, and if those suffering from long-standing disease neglect calling upon him, the responsibility will be upon their shoulders, not ours. The writer's skirts are clear. Office on Sierra street, opposite Golden Eagle Hotel, Reno, Nevada.

ORMSBY COUNTY FAIR.

An Art Scene Valued at $20,000—Art Exhibits Never Before Equaled in the Sagebrush State.

—Carson Ladies' Art Association Deserves Encouragement.

Last evening a GAZETTE reporter visited the Carson Opera House, temporarily used as the Pavilion of the Ormsby County Fair.

The house has often been transformed into a scene of gaiety, theatres, dances, political and other conventions, gubernatorial and other receptions, but never as now into an object lesson room for the manufacturer, agriculturist, horticulturist, pomologist and artist.

Here is something to study and to admire, something on which the most aesthetic of the patrons of art anywhere could feast their eyes with delight. Within the past three years the writer has been in some of the best art galleries in the art centers from Boston and Washington to San Francisco, but nowhere has he viewed an art scene of rarer interest than in this Pavilion.

There is in Carson no Raphael, Rembrandt or Cole, but there are artists whose canvases, porcelain or China ware paintings would be received in the Mecca of the art world.

The Carson Ladies' Art Association, or Carson Art Gallery, Washington, and whose needle art work would challenge comparison with that to be found anywhere in the world. Mrs. Senator Stewart, who has traveled extensively in Europe, and whose opportunities in this country to observe are seldom equaled, says that the Carson ladies have an exhibit that would do credit to any of the older cities of Europe.

Everybody knows that Nevada has Shortbushes, Jerseys, Herefords, Holsteins, Normans and Norfolks, but few, outside of the State lines know that she has art's fingers, than which none are more deft and skillful; ladies as cultured as those of the cities whose fame is world-wide. It is her art and her culture that Nevada needs to advertise; this is the advertising that will induce hither the right kind of immigration. This, on the Free Lance, the writer, among many others, advocated, and notwithstanding the refusal of the State Legislature to assist the Ladies' Art Association to make an exhibit at New Orleans, the exhibit was made. Several premiums were taken, the exhibit attracted the attention of people from every part of this country, and never in the State's history had there been sent out to the world so favorable an advertisement for life in the sagebrush country. Even after the lapse of two years a Nevada traveling in the East, as the writer well knows, hears compliments for the Carson Ladies' Art Association from those who visited the World's Fair at New Orleans.

The writer will not attempt to describe the exhibits of squashes, potatoes, pumpkins, agricultural implements, mercantile goods and similar things; nor can the writer give any adequate idea of the art displays. From floor to gallery the walls are decorated with flags, festooned with draperies and beautified with natural and artificial flowers. As one enters the scene presented is of dazzling splendor. The exhibits of the Association are on the stage. Covering the whole of the west side of the stage are exhibits of various kinds by Mrs. General Clarke. In her exhibit of Kensington work are 5 quilts, 4 light scarfs, 3 heavy scarfs, 2 piano covers, 2 table covers, 2 bannings and numerous handkerchiefs, pin cushions, sand bags, tidies and other domestic art work. Mrs. Clarke has exhibits of Kensington the most conspicuous and elegant in the Pavilion. On the wall of the east side and back of the stage are the charming paintings by Miss Teresa Tufty and by Miss Belle and Jennie Torreyson; also paintings by Mrs. Charles Derby and Mrs. C. S. Preble, of Reno. Mrs. Trenner Coffin, Miss Eva Slingerland, Miss Benton, a charcoal painting by Miss Mable Stewart (little daughter of the Senator), crazy quilt by Mrs. Judge Leonard, lace, point-lace, crocheted and similar work of every possible variety by a score of other ladies. There are under glass cases, porcelain paintings of exquisite beauty by Misses Ollie Bray, Teresa Tufty and others. There is also an exhibition by Mrs. Leonard art work of historical interest—plates, spoons, wine glasses, bellowes, glass—were 125 years old; corset stays, pewter cups, 100 years old; a hair comb which was made 65 years ago, a door knob which was in use 65 years ago and similar to those now found on Longfellow's former home at Cambridge, George Washington's home at Mount Vernon and General Lee's home at Arlington; a candle stick that has outlived five generations and used long years before that of electric light, gas or oil and a wooden box which came over in the Mayflower.

In glass cases, too, along the center of the Pavilion are rare exhibits of art by persons not members of the Association. In glass cases artistically arranged are Dr. S. L. Lee's coins of a thousand and one kinds; further on a beautiful quilt made by Mrs. McFarland, a lady 65 years of age; crazy quilt by Mrs. Reynolds; white embroidered dress (India work) by Miss Jennie Elstner; a Scotch sampler 65 years old, painting, Kensington and other needle work by Mrs. Walter Cook; hammered copper by Mrs. McFarland and Mrs. Dr. S. L. Lee; a beautiful arrangement and chenille fire-screen by Miss Mabel Williams; clay mouldings and kindergarten materials by Mrs. M. E. Jones of the Orphans' Home; and by Miss Ella Edwards; water colors on cloth by Miss Haydon, of Reno; the excellently painted head of her pet dog by Miss Florence Meder, and hundreds of other things of which there is not space to mention. That which in the center of the hall attracts the eye of everybody and is a work of exquisitely artistic merit, is a large porcelain plaque painting of a German monk enjoying his beer, the property of Senator Evan Williams, and painted by his nephew, George W. Blakely, of New York City. This reporter regrets that in the short time he was in the Pavilion there were many art exhibits which he did not so much as see, and much more that he can by no means adequately describe. It is estimated by those who should know that the real value of these art exhibits is not less than $20,000. Although the Carson ladies deservedly received the Pomona medal this year at our State Fair, for the display here, their art display at Carson is greatly superior to that exhibited here. Reno ladies and all lovers of art can well afford to make the trip to Carson to see, if for nothing else, that wonderful art exhibit in the Pavilion which commands more attention than anything of the kind ever seen in Nevada.

The Comstock Mining. In many places about town, says the Virginia Report, the surface has sunk two or three feet and often as much as ten feet. In front of the Fourth Ward school, the ground has sunk two and three feet in places. The surface about the old Bullion well, on Bowers' grade, has sunk about ten feet, and near the Sharon shaft on A street, they have to keep dumping waste on the surface to make it level. This is caused by the carved workings of years past, and the ground above these drifts has been settling, and finally causing these cavities on the surface.

Cured of Malaria. 22 FLORIDA ST., ELIZABETH, N. J., March 17, 1884. I have been using Alcock's Porous Plasters for the last five years. Some two years ago, after having been sick for upwards of six months with malaria, I found myself with an enlarged spleen, dyspeptic, and constantly troubled with headache, and my kidneys did not act very well either. Having spent most of my money for medicine and medical advice, I thought to save expense I would use Alcock's Porous Plasters, two on the small of my back, one on the spleen or ague cake, and one on the pit of the stomach, just under the breast bone. I continued using the plasters about thirty days, changing them every week. At the end of that time I was perfectly well, and have remained so ever since. GEORGE DIXON.

A Useful Precaution. It is a useful precaution for the tourist, the commercial traveler, or the emigrant to the West, to take along Hostetter's Bitters. Invalids who travel by steamboat or rail should provide themselves with it in order to prevent or remedy the nausea which the jarring and vibration of vehicles in transit often causes them. Yeady's Bitters is for this purpose, but needful purpose, to the heady unmedicated stimulants of commerce. On board ship, it not only remedies sea sickness, but neutralizes the pernicious effects of water slightly brackish, which, if unequalled, is apt to give rise to irritable bowels, cramps in the abdominal region and dyspepsia. To the serious poison of malaria it is an efficient antidote. It cures headache, heart-burn and wind upon the stomach are promptly banished by it. It healthfully stimulates the kidneys and bladder, and nullifies the early symptoms of rheumatism.

WITCH-FINDING.

Ordeal by Water Among the Tribes of Central India.

The ordeal by water is universal among the barbarous non-Aryan tribes of Central India, from the Rheels in the west country to the wild men in the almost unexplored jungles of Bustar and the far east, toward the Bay of Bengal.

Here is a description of one water-test, taken a few years ago from the mouth of an expert witch finder among the Rheels, who got into a scrape for applying it to an old woman.

A bamboo is stuck up in the middle of any piece of water. The accused is taken to it, lays hold of it, and by it descends to the bottom. In the meantime one of the villagers shoots an arrow from his bow, and another runs to pick it up and bring it back to the place whence it was shot. If the woman is able to remain under water until this is done she is declared innocent, but if she comes up to breathe before the arrow is returned into the woman's hand she is a true witch and must be swung as such.

In the case from which this account is taken the woman failed in the test, and was consequently swung to and fro, roped up to a tree, with a bandage of red pepper on her eyes. But it is obvious that this kind of ordeal, like almost all primitive ordeals, is contrived so as to depend for its effect much upon the manner in which it is conducted, whereby the operator's favor becomes worth gaining. A skillful archer will shoot just as far as he chooses. Ordeal by water is the question ordinary, which may probably be constructed as an inquiry whether the water fetch or water spirits will accept or reject the witch—whether he is on her side or against her; and this seems to be the best general explanation of a world-wide custom.

Another ordeal is by heat, as, for instance, the picking of a coin out of burning oil. But the question extraordinary is by swinging on a sacred tree, or by flogging with switches of a particular wood. Swinging before an idol, with a hook through the muscles of the back, is the well-known rite by which a Hindoo devotes himself to the god, and flogging with rods from a sacred tree manifestly adds superhuman virtue to the ordinary effect of a vigorous laying on.

In 1865 a woman, suspected of bringing cholera into the village, was deliberately beaten to death with rods of the castor oil tree, which is excellent for purging witchcraft. It is usual also to knock out the front teeth of a notorious witch; the practice appears to be connected with the belief, well known in all countries, that witches assume animal shapes; for in India they are supposed occasionally to transform themselves into wild beasts—a superstition analogous to our European lycanthropy. A good many years ago there was an old man practicing as a physician near Sringeri, in the Himalayas, who was notorious as a sorcerer, in so much that his reputation of having favoured many persons, under the form of a tiger, cost him most of his teeth, which were extracted by the rajah who held that country, so as to render him less formidable during his constant metamorphoses.

Shaving the heads of female witches is very common among the tribes much infested by sorcerers. It is employed as an antidote, not merely as a degrading punishment, so that one is tempted to trace its origin to some recedite notion of power residing in the hair, and thus, even back toward Samson, to Circe, with the beautiful locks, and to the familiar Jewels of early Christian times, who are said to have a peculiar attachment for women with fine tresses.

A Prose Poem.

Softly the moon shed its silvery light upon the evening air. The difference between the moon and a goose is, that the goose sheds feathers. This is less romantic, probably, but good goose feathers are worth 70 cents a pound, more or less.

They stood beneath the silent stars, Arthur and Evangeline; not the goose and the moon. She in the glory of young womanhood, and he in a $50 suit of clothes.

It is astonishing what trust tailors put in manhood. "Oh, Arthur," she said, "let us flee from this place, from the wrath of an angry father and the torturing taunts of a mercenary mother."

At this season, she should have said: "Let us mosquito from this place, etc.," but a young woman in love can't tell a flea from a mosquito, and we must not censure too severely.

"Ah, Evangeline, would that it were possible."

"But it is possible, Arthur. We can fly beyond the sea, the deep blue sea, which has between us and happiness, and beneath the sunny skies of Italy in the dolce far niente of that lotus land we may build about us a beautiful palace whose foundation shall be love, and whose superstructure shall be the perfection of earthly bliss."

The girl had spent all her chewing gum on the moon, and she was, and all her time in playing Pauline in an amateur dramatic club.

"Ah, darling, the picture you paint is too lovely for realization," he waived.

Of course he knew she painted. Any fellow can tell that when he gets close to a girl.

"Why, love? Oh, Arthur, why?" "Because, dearest," he agonized clear down to the knees of his pants, "I haven't money enough to buy tickets across the briny, and the walking on that road calls for gum shoes, which I am also unable to put up collaterals for during the present depressed condition of trade."

"Be trade!" she shrieked, and they parted forever.

Why They Wear Long Hair. A cowboy gives three reasons why they wear their hair long—it is hard to get it cut on the plains, it keeps their ears warm in the winter, and it makes the Indians think they are brave.

Last Sunday the management of the Consolidated California and Virginia adopted the Boss continuous process. A force of men will be put to work immediately to prepare the remaining twenty pans at the Consolidated California and Virginia pan mill and put them in

AMAZONS OF DAHOMEY.

A Correspondent's Visit to the Half-Breed, Juliano de Souza.

The tall, broad-chested man, with a dark yellow, almost brown complexion, received us with the amiable politeness of a pompous aristocrat.
He wore a long, shirt-like cotton garment reaching down to his feet, high European boots, an embroidered smoking cap, and, although he is a Fetich worshiper, a big black metal cross on his chest. After apologizing for the remarkable costumes which he had been obliged to don because of indisposition Juliano gave the sign for the beginning of the festivities. The stage for these was the open space in front of Juliano's house—a rather rickety building of two stories in the middle of the village, which was filled with the upper ten of Whydah, a multitude of black spectators, all of whom pretend to be of European descent. But woe to him who without being a "white man" dares to wear European boots, which are considered to be carried in a hammock, the European means of conveyance. Not even his Majesty, the King would ever dream of committing such a breach of African etiquette. When it was dark the army of Amazons made their entrance into the yard fantastically attired and looking more fantastical still by the glare of the torches which were borne before them.

Shortly before their dance commenced the "Chacha" distributed German beer and Bahia rum among the spectators, which consisted of some five hundred spectators, many of whom were accompanied by their tame sheep, which follow their masters like dogs. Rum is the ordinary beverage offered to visitors in Dahomey. The amazons of Abomey, of whom there are at the most some six hundred, are nominally the wives of the king, and as such form a bodyguard which is said to be superior to the male soldiers in courage, discipline and loyalty. But although these amazons accompany the King on all his wars, I think they are more for show than for service. Among all the savage and semi-savage tribes singing and dancing are considered as essential as drilling and drumming among ourselves. It is natural that the amazons, having from their earliest childhood been educated as warriors, dancers and singers, should be superior to male soldiers in these accomplishments as our guards are to the reserves. The amazons of the "Chacha," all of whom have served in the army of Abomey, are women between the ages of eighteen and twenty-five and, as the "Chacha" does not go to war, they are naturally only kept for show. They have no separate barracks, but live, like the thirty male soldiers, in different quarters of the town, whence they are called together whenever they are wanted.

At their first entrance, when,
marching up in a long procession, they salute their lord and master, I was astonished at the military exactitude of their movements. Imagine sixty young women, strong and slender, who, without losing anything of their womanliness, present a decided warlike appearance. Among Europeans the combination of the woman and the warrior could not be imagined; here it is explained by the peculiar formation of the negro skeleton. The skeletons of negro women (in striking contrast to that of the mulattoes) are strikingly like the skeletons of male negroes. The assertion is untrue that the female warriors of Dahomey have their breasts cut off, like the mythological amazons of the ancient Greeks. Their picturesque uniform might furnish our masters of the ballet with fresh ideas.
The fresh young faces look regally under the white, bristling yoruba cap, ornamented with black pictures of animals, such as lizards, birds and others. The feet are bare; short knickerbockers of green, red or yellow material come down nearly to the knees and a bright-colored tunic of striped silk or velvet, which leaves under the white yoruba, a scarlet or light green silk is worn in front like a Scotch plaid. The armament consists of swords, battle-axes and guns, which latter are put aside during the dance.

Quite apart from the effect of combined dancing and singing, the performances, which went for several hours uninterruptedly before our eyes, were quite in the style of our corps de ballet, with the only difference that perhaps no other corps de ballet would dance with equal exactitude. First came a tall and somewhat elderly woman. She was the captain, and as she entered the son of the "Chacha" whispered to me,
"Just look how well my mother dances." Then followed, with battleaxes uplifted, the younger officers, and in their rear the still younger troops, now dashing towards us in their sham fight, now wheeling round, dispersing, and again uniting. And all this with rhythmic movements, half warlike, half coquettish, but never clumsy, the elegant play of the bare round arms recalling to the mind the limbs of ancient classical statues. All dances which I have seen performed among savages and domesticated peoples are but prototypes to a certain degree voluptuous. Here for the first time a performance was given which would have held its own before a serious critique and aesthete. [Kolonische Zeitung.]

A gentleman afflicted with an impediment in his speech, took dinner at a tavern and calling to a waiter, addressed him thus: "We-w-waiter, give me a s-s-some r-r-roast b-b-beef." The waiter stammered out in reply: "We-w-w-e ain't g-g-got any." At which the gentleman, highly enraged, supposing the servant was mocking him, sprang from his seat, and was proceeding to knock him down, when a third person arrested his arm, and cried to him not to strike, saying: "He stutters s-ssame as we d-d-do!"

The Leading Private Educational Institution FOR BOYS On the Pacific Coast. ST. MATTHEW'S HALL SAN MATEO, CAL.

This institution, founded in 1861, is situated near the village of San Mateo, which is noted for its beauty and seclusion; also for the equability and healthfulness of its climate. It is within twenty miles of San Francisco by rail, and easily accessible by carriage, and therefore particularly suited to parents in the city who wish their sons within reach in case of emergency. Trains of the Southern Pacific Company frequently, allowing visitors to go and return several times daily.

DISCIPLINE.
The Principal exercises a fatherly care and discipline over the pupils, seeking to influence and kindly lead rather than drive. The military discipline is used in a modified form, sufficient to secure regular exercise and erect carriage by drill, and habits of promptness and obedience, with orderly movements in the school-room.
Experience has proved that the military drill, thus modified, is beneficial and not objectionable. Particular attention is given to the morals and manners of the pupils by both principal and teachers, it being considered an indispensable part of their training to make them gentlemen as well as scholars. This is the atmosphere of the school.

SESSIONS.
The school year is divided into two sessions of twenty weeks each. The Easter session begins about January 5th; the Trinity session about July 20th, with a summer vacation of eight weeks, and a winter vacation of four weeks. Pupils will be received at any time.

COURTING A WIDOW.

How it Differs from Keeping Company with an Angel.

There is any amount of fun in courting a young girl who has not become used to it. She swallows all the soft things a fellow says, but when it comes to popping the question or something of that kind, she gets frightened more or less and wants time to consider until there are enough loopholes for her lover to slip out through without the least bit of trouble, if he happens to see some one he thinks he could love a shade or two better. Young girls are timid and shy in earnest, and if a fellow is not pretty certain he has found precisely the angel he is looking for, he can manage so as to have the refusal of her for a year or more, and at the same time manage to keep his neck out of the reach of a breach of promise suit when he happens to meet some other sweet-faced angel that seems to him to be better suited to his tastes.

It is different with a widow. She gets rid of all her shyness at the earliest convenient opportunity, and finds out the principal things she desires to know of him before she allows him to get acquainted. The school-girl of sixteen trusts herself to a fine young fellow on sixty or ninety days' sight without security; but the widow, like a thrifty housewife, goes out and examines the mercantile reports concerning him, and then tells to him on her own terms for cash. She has him sized up before he comes to market, and when she looks at him she is very artless creature, and fights shy of him whenever he happens to sit a little close to her on the sofa, there are ten chances to one that he will never look any farther, but will buckle right up to her and put the question fairly and squarely, and when he has done so she is not going to tremble all over and blush and ask for a week or a month in which to make up her mind. She will just wind her arms around his neck and look up into his face with one of those Wheeler's fiery eyes, and before he has had time to catch his breath he will find himself nailed to the cross with a "yes" that pierces him to his very soul.—[Through Mail.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES, ATTENTION!

Nevada State University Furnished Throughout With This Desk.

CONTRACT FOR SUPPLYING SAN FRANCISCO SCHOOLS LATELY AWARDED TO THE "AUTOMATIC"

THE "AUTOMATIC" AS COMPARED WITH OTHER SEATS.

The illustrations show the great superiority of the Rear-folding Seats over all others in Durability, Economy of Space, and Tidiness. The cuts were made from Photographs of the desks themselves, and are, therefore, perfectly accurate.

From photograph of the Automatic Rear-folding Seats; in use over five years.

The Automatic Seat, being supported in front, can NEVER sag, and as the seats fold as the pupils rise, and remain folded and out of the way until they take their seats again, the desks are set much nearer together. The above are set the right distance apart, securing an EASY, GRACEFUL, and HEALTHFUL POSITION of the pupil.

From photograph of the best (C) Hinge-Seal Desks; in use less than five years.

One great objection to hinged seats is that they wear so as to become noisy in folding, and sag, as the above, becoming uncomfortable, or totally unfit for use. The above desks are set the "regulation" distance apart, which distance, together with the sag of the seat, induces the UNWELFARE and UNHEALTHFUL POSITION of the pupil.

Anyone buying desks without considering the Automatic, will surely regret it. Send for Circulars and Price Lists, saving money.
